

Memorandum

To: Member State Associations and staff that have Field Hockey responsibility

From: B. Elliot Hopkins, MLD, CAA, Field Hockey Rules Editor

Subject: Specific Protective Eyewear ASTM Nomenclature

Date: August 31, 2011

Greetings,

Recently there has been some minor confusion regarding the correct ASTM standard nomenclature for protective eyewear. The official name for the current standard is ASTM F2713-09 which states the name of the standard (2713) and the year it was developed (09). Some manufacturers have chosen to imprint an abbreviation of the standard on the actual protective eyewear product and packaging, (ex. ASTM 2713 or F2713). These abbreviations are acceptable and fully support that the protective eyewear meet the appropriate and current ASTM standard. If you have any questions regarding compliant protective eyewear and the proper nomenclature, please feel free to contact our office. Thank you for sharing this information with your member schools and registered officials.

BEH/lbt

cc: Field Hockey Protective Eyewear Manufacturers